

Action Zone Map

Action Zone A (Leavenworth and Eddy)

Tenderloin Museum becomes a visitor destination and a hub for community activity.

A cluster of neighborhood-serving businesses develops around the Tenderloin Museum.

Action Zone B (Jones and Eddy)

Boeddeker reopens as a clean and safe space.

Boeddeker offers regular and special event programming.

Action Zone C (Leavenworth and Golden Gate)

A zone of well-maintained storefronts of community-serving nonprofits is accompanied by efforts to promote positive, healthy activity on the sidewalk

Action Zone D (Turk and Taylor)

A cluster of neighborhood-serving as well as entertainment-oriented businesses develops around the arts venues at Turk/Taylor.

New arts venues join existing venues to create a vibrant hub of cultural activity both during the day and nighttime at Turk/Taylor.

New mixed-use development and existing buildings implement design strategies that contribute to a safe and active Turk and Taylor Streets.

Action Zone E (Market from 5th-7th)

Sustained sidewalk activation projects along Market from 5th-7th that promote positive day and nighttime activity are implemented while longer-term development progresses.

Action Zone F (UN Plaza and Civic Center Plaza)

Civic Center Playground renovation is a catalyst for additional investment in the programming and stewardship of Civic Center Plaza.

UN Plaza is activated with programming and art installations so it can become a cleaner, safer and inclusive community asset every day.

Initial steps are taken towards linking the two plazas and activating/programming them as one vibrant civic space.

Action Zone G (6th Street)

A cluster of neighborhood-and employee-serving businesses develops around the Sixth Street Safety Hub.

Sixth Street Safety Hub becomes a visible hub of community-serving activity.

Action Zone H (Larkin Street)

Enhance visibility of Little Saigon as a Vietnamese-oriented cultural district.

Create physical improvements that enhance the physical conditions of Larkin St. and also facilitate the connection to Market St.

Action Zone I (Market and Van Ness)

A cluster of new resident and employee-serving businesses develops around new residential projects.

New residential developments at 12th and Market progress with designs that will contribute to an improved sidewalk experience.
